2004 MERIT

Nicholal Potts
INHABITING THE WIND

The twenty lodge buildings capitalize on predictable coastal devices that catch North and South winds and convert them via terraces to allow breezes to flow through individual units as well as openings in the concrete walls of the units permit oblique views of the landscape.